

Assistant Professor in Engineering – Tenure Track

Come join a growing Engineering program at Baldwin Wallace University—located in proximity to business and industrial surrounding area of Cleveland, Ohio. With the Knowlton Center, a new $25 million engineering, physics, computing, and math building under construction, slated to open in January of 2021, there has never been a better time to bring your talents to BW and shape the future of engineering with us.

We seek a full-time, tenure-track Assistant Professor to begin August of 2021. A Ph.D. in Mechanical, Electrical, Civil, or Industrial Engineering, or closely related field is preferred, although candidates near degree completion will be considered. We are especially interested in candidates with expertise in design and manufacturing, mechatronics, systems engineering, structural engineering, and can contribute to our degree program in these areas. Qualified candidates in other areas of engineering are encouraged to apply as well. Dedication to undergraduate teaching and mentoring of laboratory, research and design projects is of importance. Salary is commensurate with experience. To learn more about the program, please visit: <https://www.bw.edu/academics/undergraduate/engineering/>.

Founded in 1845, Baldwin Wallace University is an independent, coeducational comprehensive institution in the liberal arts tradition and is located 15 miles southwest of downtown Cleveland and just minutes from Cleveland Hopkins International Airport. Baldwin Wallace enrolls approximately 3,000 full-time undergraduate day students, 250 part-time students in evening and weekend programs, and 900 graduate students. The University offers a competitive benefits package which includes funding for professional travel, summer grant opportunities, and tuition benefits for immediate family.

To Apply see the link on BW's Employment and Careers' web page at <https://www.bw.edu/employment>. Please submit via one (1) Word document or one (1) PDF file containing a cover letter, curriculum vita, contact information for three references, teaching statement and evidence of effective teaching, evidence and/or plans for design and research projects appropriate at the undergraduate level. For full consideration, applicants should submit materials no later than January 4, 2021. This search will be conducted in accordance with current health and safety precautions prescribed by the State of Ohio and Baldwin Wallace University.
