

Instrumental Music Education Faculty

The Baldwin Wallace University Conservatory of Music seeks applicants for a full-time tenure-track appointment in Instrumental Music Education. The position is open rank (depending on experience) and begins on August 1, 2019. Senior level applicants are encouraged to apply.

The successful candidate will teach undergraduate music education and instrumental methods courses; Supervise field work and student teaching in K-12 settings; Play an active role in the recruitment of music majors; Provide positive leadership for Conservatory colleagues and students, along with public school teaching professionals and alumni; Maintain an excellent national reputation as a pedagogue; Perform other institutional service typically required of a full-time faculty member (advising, etc.). Other responsibilities may include directing a Community Music School instrumental ensemble (or secondary university instrumental ensemble), overseeing classroom instrument inventory, and other opportunities based on the candidate's expertise or the Conservatory's needs. Opportunities for summer overload teaching, including teaching professional development offerings, are possible through the Community Music School.

Required qualifications: Interest in leading collaboration with the College of Education, the Community Music School and Conservatory colleagues across all program areas; A minimum of three years of K-12 teaching experience; Significant achievement in teaching and conducting at the secondary and/or university level; Demonstrated commitment to teaching and developing the artistic and educational growth of undergraduate music students; Masters degree. Preference will be given to candidates with an earned doctoral degree (PhD, DMA, or EdD) by the start date.

Baldwin Wallace is a private liberal arts and sciences institution located 20 miles southwest of Cleveland. The University offers an outstanding benefits package including funding for professional travel, summer grant opportunities, and tuition benefits for immediate family. Established in 1898, the Conservatory of Music offers 340 undergraduate music majors a professional training program enhanced by a comprehensive and entrepreneurial liberal arts curriculum. Our artistically charged atmosphere inspires students in all majors to strive for creative excellence. Student programs are small enough for individual attention, yet large enough to provide excellent performing opportunities. Our close proximity to Cleveland enables significant partnerships with major cultural institutions, along with educational and performing opportunities for students and faculty alike. The Conservatory occupies newly constructed and renovated facilities to further enhance its many programs of study. Learn more at www.bw.edu.

In a continuing effort to enrich its academic environment, the University and Conservatory actively encourage applications from individuals who celebrate diversity. Please submit: Cover letter; Curriculum Vita; One-page statement of individual teaching/leadership philosophy; Contact information for 3 or more professional references (including email and phone numbers); Word document with embedded active video links for at least 15 minutes of continuous, uninterrupted rehearsal and 15 minutes of continuous, uninterrupted classroom teaching (each excerpt is ideally filmed from the perspective of the players/students) via YouTube, Vimeo or other online platform. An optional summary of creative work or research (articles, poster sessions, notable performances, etc..) may also be submitted. All of these documents must be merged into a single Word document (or a single PDF file) and posted using the To Apply link on BW's Employment and Careers' web page at <https://www.bw.edu/employment>. Review of materials will begin January 3, 2019 and will continue until the position is filled. BW is an EEO/AA employer and Educator.
